

Rixie, a young girl with expressive feet
This is particularly challenging case as Rixie was born without arms and hands. She is beautiful child of 10 years who has already had some surgery, but not in the area you might suspect. You would hardly notice if I did not call attention to the fact that she had corrective surgery for a cleft pallet early in her young life.

She is in her 4th year of school and does things differently from other children – she writes with her feet! We are more concerned about what she will do as she grows older and must fend for herself in the world. There is no support system for people like Rixie in Honduras. We are looking for assistance with this patient in attempting to obtain a computer for her. It would be a blessing if we could locate a source that would donate voice recognition or eye movement software and to partner with us in her training.
